

ALASKA EXPEDITION PRIMER 7 Day Itinerary

This course is designed for individuals seeking to learn mountaineering expedition skills. It combines instruction with an exciting series of climbs that are designed to develop each person's skill and technique. We will cover ice axe and crampon use, rope team management, anchors, belays, crevasse rescue, navigation, hazard/risk assessment, avalanche awareness/transceiver use, rock and ice climbing technique and more. The extended format of this program gives participants the opportunity to learn more advanced skills and techniques, and to attempt select climbing objectives. The area used for these courses is some of the wildest mountain terrain in the world. It is an ideal setting for learning and applying mountaineering skills. This course is outstanding for people seeking to prepare themselves for major expeditions such as Denali, Aconcagua, or any of the big peaks in the world's great ranges. It provides a strong background for individuals who want a solid base in mountaineering. The Expedition Primer is an expedition in its own right! No previous experience is necessary.

HAINES: Haines Alaska is the starting/finishing place for this trip. Haines is a small community located along the fjords at the top of the Inside Passage. The natural beauty and wilderness access found here are responsible for Haines' reputation as a center for wilderness adventure in Alaska.

GETTING TO THE MOUNTAINS: Standard packages will drive to the nearby mountain pass and approach from land. Optional ski plane support allows access to additional zones and cuts down travel time, this is available with certain dates for an additional $250. The approaches are beautiful and take us over some of the most heavily glaciated terrain in the world! Depending on the weather and climbing conditions, we may travel to mountain terrain outside of Haines, British Columbia or Yukon Territories in Canada. Either way you are sure to yourself in a remote and mountainous setting unlike any other.

THE MOUNTAINS: Haines borders Glacier Bay National Park. The Park and the adjacent 27 million acres, including Wrangell-St Elias National Park, comprise the largest protected wilderness area on the planet. It is an extremely jagged, glaciated, mountain landscape. This terrain is amongst the best in North America for learning mountaineering skills, and the climbing, trekking, and skiing are world class!

OUR GUIDES: Alaska Mountain Guides & Climbing School Inc. instructors and guides are professionals. They are special individuals who have a passion for being in the mountain environment. They have a wealth of experience from guiding throughout Alaska and the world, and they genuinely enjoy sharing their knowledge. Their skill and positive attitudes help our guests to have the best possible experience during their trip. Your safety and enjoyment are their primary goals.

ITINERARY

This is a flexible trip itinerary that shows the general progression of the trip. Our exact schedule will depend highly on the weather, strength of the group, and time of year.

Day 0: Pre-trip meeting at 6:00 PM (unless otherwise noted) at the AMG office in Haines. After a brief meet and greet with your instructors and fellow guests, we will discuss the course and your goals and expectations.

Day 1: We'll depart town and head to the mountains. Once we reach a suitable location we will set up base camp close to nearby few climbing objectives. We may spend the afternoon introducing the first set of skills depending on timing.

Day 2-6: We will focus on developing skills associated with mountaineering and big mountain climbing. The group will tackle technical climbing objectives to solidify their new skills.

Day 7: Return to Haines.

Please don't hesitate to contact us with any questions!
